EXAMINER'S REPORT

Of Settlement Between Swann-Day Lumber Company and Revenue Agent A. M. Harrison.

The following was made public on Thursday:

State of Kentucky, Office State Inspector and Examiner, Frankfort, July 26, 1905.—To His Excellency, J. C. W. Beckham, Governor State of Kentucky:

Dear Sir.—For further report in the matter of conduct of revenue agents, I desire to report the following in regard to the settlement of case in the Powell County Court by A. M. Harrison, Revenue Agent State-at-Large, wherein the Swann-Day Lumber Company was made defendant.

An action was filed in June, 1905 by Revenue Agent Harrison, by L. J. Moore, attorney, seeking to assess the omitted personal property of said company at more than $1,000,000 for each of the years 1901, 1902, 1903, 1904 and 1905.

Mr. T. B. McCormack, a representative of the company was sent to Lexington, the home of Revenue Agent Harrison, for the purpose of settling the suit and on his return reported to Mr. Floyd Day, of the company, that Mr. Ed Oder, of Lexington, was one of the proper parties to see for the adjustment of the matter. Later Mr. Day went to Lexington for the purpose of seeing Revenue Agent Harrison in regard to the suit but was unable to find him. On this trip Mr. Ed Oder approached Mr. Day, claiming to represent Revenue agent Harrison, making a proposition to settle in full claim for back taxes, upon the payment of the sum of $1,000 cash to him, the omitted personal property to be assessed by a consented judgment at a total valuation of $17,000 as follows, $2,000 valuation for 1903 and 1904 and $7,000 for 1905; the total amount of taxes to be realized for the State and county for the three years amounting to $170.

A judgment was thereupon drawn, assessing the omitted personal property of defendant at said sums and delivered to Mr. Oder for the purpose of having A. M. Harrison as revenue agent sign same. Thereafter Mr. Oder returned to Mr. Floyd Day with said judgment signed by Revenue Agent Harrison, but before delivering same demanded and received the sum of $500 in addition to the $1,000 previously paid him, saying that Revenue Agent Harrison demanded $1,500. The further sum of $30 for personal expenses in going to see Revenue Agent Harrison, who was absent from Lexington, was paid Ed Oder. Said sums were paid by checks, payable to Ed Oder.

This judgment assessing the property at the total valuation of $17,000 for the three years, was delivered by the company to its attorney, who filed same in the Clerk's office of Powell County Court on July 17, 1905 a certified copy of which has been filed in the Auditor's office. In the settlement of this suit the Swann-Day Company has paid the sum of $1,520 to Mr. Ed Oder, claiming to represent the revenue agent, and said revenue agent, by consent judgment, filed July 17, 1905, has agreed for the Commonwealth to allow the case to be settled in full upon the payment of $50 taxes to the State of Kentucky and $35 to the county of Powell and $45 as penalty for said revenue agent.

The only record which the State of Kentucky and Powell county have of this transaction is the suit filed seeking to assess the property and the judgment of July 17, 1905, assessing same, a certified copy of which has been filed with the State Auditor, on which taxes, State and county, amount to $170 and $34 penalty.

Respectfully submitted,
H. B. HINES,
State Inspector and Examiner.

KENTUCKY INSURANCE.

Premiums on Business in the State Double the Amount Paid Out on Losses.

The report of State Insurance Commissioner Prewitt presents figures showing the enormous amount of money that goes out of Kentucky in insurance premiums each year over and above the amount that comes back in the shape of death and fire losses.

The total amount of premiums paid to fire and life companies outside of Kentucky for the last fiscal year was $10,793,816.33, while the total amount of losses paid was $4,482,698.59, leaving a net balance in the hands of the insurance companies of $6,311,117.74 of Kentucky money.

Of this amount of premiums $3,476,309.53 was paid for fire insurance and $7,318,506.80 for life insurance, while for fire losses only $1,427,113.70 was paid back and $3,055,579.89 for death losses, leaving the fire companies $2,048,195.83 to the good and the life companies $4,269,937.91 to the good on their Kentucky business.

The following table shows the premiums over losses of the fire companies in some of the principal cities and Central Kentucky towns:

Premiums received.	Losses paid.
Covington.....	$167,542 $2,361
Cynthiana.....	17,280 7,550

The tax income of the State of Kentucky is a little over $3,000,000 on property valued at $600,000,000. The premiums paid to life and fire insurance companies outside of the State amount to more than twice as much as the State's own income every year.

HONEST OFFICIAL.

Words of Praise for Sheriff of Clark County.

In the avalanche of graft that seems to be sweeping over the country at this particular period, involving men of high and low degree alike, officials of corporations and of public service, an occasional head lifts itself above the murky and slush of corruption, refuses to be submerged in the on-rushing stream.

Recently, at least one man in Kentucky has attracted widespread comment and universal commendation. He is a modest man, an officer of the law. He has proved himself an officer of the law and not the representative of a set of crooks and the bootlicker of political henchmen. He has stood conscientiously and unflinchingly for the people he represents and for the maintenance of justice.

The one man who stood between the alleged assassins of Breathitt county and the people for three years was Woodson McCord, Sheriff of Clark county, and no amount of political pressure or private friendship so far as can be traced has ever swerved him a hair's breadth from his duty as he seemed to see it; and no man, of all those who figured in the disgraceful attempts to bribe or intimidate public officials in the Breathitt feud cases, has ever dared to approach McCord—a lofty tribute to his character.

Recently the role he played in an alleged bribery case involving State Auditor's officers, emphasizing his pre-eminent fitness for the important office he holds and stamps him not only a dutiful public servant, but a man who occupies a position above the corrupting influences under which so many in official life in Kentucky have fallen and still are falling.—Lexington Leader.

No such thing as "summer complaint" where Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is kept handy. Nature's remedy for every looseness of the bowels. 3-5t.

Government Ownership.

Government ownership of public utilities apparently has its good points. Mr. George Clark, an American lawyer writing from New Zealand, says: "I have traveled around the world via New York, London and the Suez Canal, and I am now in the land of government ownership of many enterprises affecting the public, and a more contented and prosperous people does not exist in the whole world today than the inhabitants of New Zealand. The government owns the railroads, life and fire insurance and the coal mines. The fare on the railroads is about one cent per mile, and workmen are carried twenty miles each day to and from their work for 24 cents per week, between the cities of Wellington and Petone. The government owns the telegraph and telephones and conducts a savings bank. The savings bank lends money to the farmers at 3½ per cent, and the minimum wage for labor is 25 cents per hour. The government gives a pension of $100 per year to all persons over the age of sixty-five. The man with $10,000 invested gets the same freight rates as the man with a million dollars."

While government ownership does not do all claimed for it, it is certainly not the instrument of corruption and oppression claimed against it.

Fell Dead.

A man fell dead in Chicago the other day from heart trouble, and thousands die every day in the same way. But the cause of nine out of ten such cases of heart trouble is indigestion. The cure is Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Pepsin. The swollen, inflamed, and engorged stomach, presses right up against the heart and prevents it from working; your heart flutters, palpitates, pains and you are short of breath; some lose it forever. Just try for these symptoms, a few doses of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and see how quickly it will cure you. Sold by W. S. Lloyd at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails. 3-5t.

Cotton Leakage Investigation.

The investigation of the leakage of cotton reports in the Department of Agriculture was begun by the Federal grand jury at Washington last week.

Agent Harrison's Statement.

Auditor's Agent A. M. Harrison made the following statement July 26 to a reporter for the Herald:

"I understood before I went away that the Swann-Day Lumber Company was willing to make a liberal settlement which would be just to the Commonwealth, the revenue agents and all others concerned. I so thoroughly believed this that I anticipated a part of the part that might be coming to me.

"For days I had been annoyed while in Southwestern Kentucky by long distance telephone messages, urging me to come home as there was trouble over the Ford Lumber Company settlement.

VISITED BY AGENT

"About the time these irritating messages about the Ford Lumber Company were coming to me, a gentleman representing himself to be an agent of the Swann Day Lumber Company came to where I was, bringing with him a number of tax receipts which the Swann Day Lumber Company had paid, and making a statement which led me to believe that the property was too highly assessed, and I in an irritated manner, said:

"I believe I am accused of reducing one of these lumber company's assessments for a consideration. I will reduce this one now, just to show, at least, that I can do what I believe was then my right and power to do, without any promise being held out before me."

ABSOLUTE DENIAL.

"If the statement charges that I got any money from the Swann-Day Lumber Company, it is absolutely a lie out of the whole cloth, as I never got a dollar from the company or any representative, nor was there the least inducement held out to me to make a reduction in the assessment.

"I suppose that another time, in a different frame of mind, being then irritated over the messages about the Ford Lumber Company, I would have waited until my return to Lexington, when I could most probably—in fact, most surely—have made a satisfactory settlement with the Swann-Day Lumber Company which would have brought me some money, at least enough to have paid what I had anticipated.

DONE THROUGH IRRITATION.

"As I recall it, it was done as I have stated, more through irritation and annoyance than probably good judgment.

"Of course, these gentlemen know who their representative was, and whatever agreement they had with him, I do not know. They certainly did not tell me, and this is all on earth I know about the case, and it is only unfortunate, since it is simply impossible that I received any remuneration from the Swann-Day Lumber Company or their representative. Therefore, any intimation that I should have received any money in this transaction, after the much advertised Clark county matter, is very grievous.

"But again, no inducement of any kind or description was held out to do what I did in reducing the assessment."

SYMPATHY WITH THE ACCUSED.

Former Congressman is Fined by a Kansas Judge.

Iola, Kas., July 19.—E. H. Funston, former Congressman from this district, was, in Police Court found guilty of disturbing the peace and with having carried concealed weapons.

The charges against Mr. Funston grew out of the wrecking with dynamite by a temperance fanatic on July 10 of three Iola "joints" or saloons. The explosion followed an agitation against the saloons, in which Gov. Hoch was appealed to in an effort to secure the enforcement of the State prohibition law. Intense excitement followed the act of the dynamiter, and for three days the city was crowded with people, who came from many points of the State to view the wreckage. Mr. Funston, it was charged, had made inflammatory utterances to crowds that gathered about him on the streets. When Patrolman Cannon tried to persuade Mr. Funston to desist a quarrel between the two ensued and Funston attempted to draw a revolver. Funston was arrested and formal charge made against him. In the trial, which was attended by hundreds of persons, one witness testified that Mr. Funston had said: "I am glad that someone had nerve enough to do it. The only regret is that the men (saloonkeepers) weren't there to be blown out of their buildings. If the police officers had done their duty this would not have happened. I have no sorrow in my heart for the men along this street who have suffered loss, because they have done business with these men and have not put a stop to their business."

Mr. Funston testified in his own defense. He admitted he had come to town armed with a shotgun and had purchased shot on that day. He asserted that he wanted the shot to protect his property, located some distance from Iola, against a threat that had been made to burn it. He denied having made inflammatory utterances.

The loss caused by the explosion was estimated at $100,000 and the alleged dynamiter, C. L. Melvin, is still at large. Judge Adair, in sentencing Mr. Funston, said: "It is with great regret that I have been called upon to render judgment in the matter. I wish to state that I have known Mr. Funston ever since I have been in Kansas, that I know him to be an honorable, upright citizen and a man of exemplary character and reputation. I heartily sympathize with his feelings in regard to the 'joint' question. A man who regards his family and children would naturally resent anything that would tend to disgrace or injure them. I do not wish it understood that any judgement I may render intimates that I do not sympathize with the sentiments and feelings of those who believe in the enforcement of the prohibitory law. I have decided the matter disregarding the standing of the defendant, public sentiment and everything except the law and the evidence."

Contract To Oil Streets of Winchester.

J. H. Hostetter, who oiled the streets of Lexington, has been awarded the contract for oiling the streets of Winchester. The contract contemplates 40,000 square yards or about three miles of the streets of Winchester. The work will be begun soon.

Great Reform Movement in Russia.

The growth of reform in Russia is emphasized by the action of the Congress of the Zemstvos, which, despite the efforts of the police to break up the meeting, met and proceeded to regularly and orderly consider reform proposals. The congress has directed its criticism against the plan of the Government commission for a national assembly, declaring that it is wholly inadequate, that it would not meet the desires of the people, and that it will not relieve the country of the bureaucracy. The program of the Zemstvos is for a constitutional monarchy, with a parliament—having full legislative powers, and a ministry of responsible heads of departments, subject to the will of the parliament. This parliament is to consist of two chambers, elected by the people, having control of the finances and general legislation. When the chief of police gave notice that the meeting should not take place, the members laughed and the chief proceeded to take down the names of the members. "Write down the whole of Russia!" one excited delegate shouted. The boldness of the delegates is a sure indication that they have the support of the people for their proposed reforms.

Davis Promises a Pardon.

The State Farmers' Union convention in this city with over 500 farmers in attendance from all parts of the State, Gov. Davis addressed the meeting. He replied to Theodore Price, of Boston, who claimed the farmers of Arkansas were in a trust to control cotton. Gov. Davis said the Farmers' Union was no trust. "If any of you farmers are ever convicted under the anti-trust statute I will pardon you," said the chief executive.—Hot Springs Telegram to St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

WHY WITH A PISTOL?

In this issue is an account of the shooting of Prof. De Moss, of Fayette county. To many persons will come the question: Why should a teacher of a public school be carrying a pistol—especially on a Sunday afternoon? We do not know the facts. Probably he had whipped or corrected a boy and was expecting an attack by an irate father. We see no use of a teacher or even an editor making a walking arsenal of himself. Carrying a pistol either indicates a bully, a coward, or a lawless man. The probability is that he will not be arraigned for carrying concealed deadly weapons:

Really it does seem that a man who would wish to be regarded as respectable (not to say Christian) would be ashamed to stand on the street and use profane and vulgar language. Thoughtlessness is not a sufficient excuse. He is wicked or vile and needs a new heart. If he has no regard for the present, he cannot dictate the future, for he must take his lot in the hell of fire with the damned.

Oh, he is so nice, is such a lovely dancer and is rich too but he drinks occasionally, and I know he loves me. He won't do bad after we are married. Alas! Alas! Deceived? No. She is reaping what she sowed. This sin cursed world moves along, and the voters of this land are helping it move—pulling, pushing it along to the bottomless pit.

A WARNING.

On Sunday evening Rev. J. R. Hobbs, of the Baptist church, delivered a strong sermon on "Civic Righteousness," before the union congregation assembled at the Methodist church. A few events of crime were alluded to, and the saloon stigma with the evils coming therefrom were vigorously portrayed to a church going people. It was a note of warning and should serve to arouse our people to a knowledge of present conditions and a plan to restore Mt. Sterling, one of the most thriving business cities of the South, to correct living and a means by which the alluring temptations of the saloons and gambling dens and other places of vice be taken from before the present and coming generations. There is no better time to begin than now and now is the only time allotted to men. An organization, public sentiment, a vote and it will be settled, in our judgment, on the side of righteousness. Shall the people act, or become reticent and indifferent to words of warning given by the preacher and which will be endorsed by every God loving and God fearing man in our city.

If city councils, boards of health and people general were as scarry about lying, stealing, drunkenness and adultery as they are about smallpox and yellow fever would not this be a happy land? See how we run from and quarantine against disease; see how we run to, permit and accept and pay for the haunts of vice. This is a strange world, and the devil at times and in spots seems to have us on the go. Look out or he will get you.

John Fay Released on $500 Bond.

Last week, when John Fay appeared before the County Court on the charge of maliciously shooting and wounding Lutrelle Fasset, with intent to kill, application for bail was made. County Attorney Thomas objected to a bail less than $2,000. Judge Hazelrigg placed the amount at $1,000. Failing to furnish bond Fay was committed to jail. On Monday the case was again considered by Judge Hazelrigg and the bond was reduced to $500 inasmuch as the condition of M. F. Fasset had so much improved. P. H. Davis, the saloon keeper, was accepted as bondsman, he having made an affidavit that exclusive of his indebtedness he was worth at least $5,000. Some men in town, all the names of whom we do not know, guarantee the payment of said bail, and as a pledge that they will be protected from loss, certain collaterals including diamonds have been deposited in the Mt. Sterling National Bank.

A Natural Result.

It is reasonable to suppose if the foundation a structure gives way, the building is bound to come down. The principle can be applied to disease. Take a medicine that will remove the cause of sickness, and a cure is sure to follow. Dyspepsia, indigestion, sick-headache and fullness, their foundation in stomach disorders. Remove this weakness and the other symptoms are no more. There is one cure drug—will for $2.00 per box. It is Dr. Cass' Improved Liver Pills. One for a dose. FARM LIFE FOR ITALIANS.

Baron Planches Advises His Countryman to Leave Cities and Take Up Plow.

Baron Edmondo Mayer Des Planches, ambassador from Italy to the United States, who is making a tour of the southern states, stopped in St. Louis a few days ago, and in the course of an address advised the Italians who come to this country to take up farming.

"The Italian immigrant, fresh from the shores of Italy, gets into New York first, because nearly all the ships enter at that port," said Baron Des Planches. "He is uneducated, usually, and has but little money after he has paid his passage. He begins work immediately, and takes up anything his hands find to do. Sometimes he gets to blacking boots or pushing a banana cart. The pay is small and he has little opportunity of improving his mind. His children are brought up in the streets, and they follow in their father's footsteps. Occasionally an Italian will have enough money to go to some other city.

"What I desire is to induce these Italians in the cities to go to the country. There laborers are wanted, especially in the south. There is a great opportunity for Italians in truck-farming, fruit raising and general agriculture in the south. Land is cheap and may be obtained and paid for in a few years. The immigrant who goes to the country finds a chance to send his children to school. He learns the customs of the people of the United States quicker, and thereby becomes a better citizen.

"It has been said that I am seeking to promote immigration. This is not so. My desire is to have my fellow countrymen who seek the United States make better citizens for the United States. I want them to have respect for the laws and in other ways so conduct themselves that they may reap the great advantages offered in this country. I advise all Italians coming here to become Americans as soon as possible and to do as the Americans do. In this way I feel that they will not be looked down upon. Some day, when I am dead, some of them may think of the time that des Planches sent them to the country, and they may give him thanks. That is all the credit I expect to get out of it."

DODGING REAL QUESTION.

She Did Not Question Lady's Reputation, It Was the Jelly That Didn't Suit.

A lady who intended to give a dinner to some friends at which the piece de resistance was to be duck shot by her husband on the shores of eastern Maryland, decided that none but the very best jelly should be served as an accompaniment to the dainty fare, relates Collier's Weekly.

So she proceeded to a gorgeous Broadway establishment, a place where one pays a quarter apiece for tomatoes and a dollar a stock for asparagus at certain seasons of the year. The jelly the clerk offered her did not appear to be just what she wanted, so she suggested another variety.

"But, madam," said the clerk, laughingly, "this is the very best jelly you can buy. It is made by Mrs. McGuggin, of Brooklyn."

And he pointed to the label on the jar.

"I've never heard of it," meekly suggested the lady. "Are you sure it's all right? Do you guarantee it?"

Seeing that his customer was extremely mild of manner and perhaps to be easily rattled, the clerk smiled in a patronizing way. "Guarantee!" repeated he, more haughtily than ever, "madam, we don't have to guarantee Mrs. McGuggin's jelly. Her name is enough. This lady, madam, has a reputation!"

"O, I have no doubt of that, I'm sure," broke in the mild-mannered lady, with a heightened color. "I'm not questioning the lady's reputation; it was the jelly, I assure you!"

SOME BUTTER TESTS

METHODS BY WHICH TO DISTINGUISH THE GENUINE ARTICLE.

The Use of Preservatives With Fresh Meat—Coloring Matter In Many Sauces—How to Detect Butter Acid In Best Products.

It is a matter of common information that oleomargarine is sometimes substituted for butter and that rancid and badly made butter is frequently mixed, washed with soda and churned with milk for the preparation of renovated or process butter.

Methods are available which, with a little practice, may be employed to distinguish between fresh butter, renovated or process butter and oleomargarine.

The "spoon" test has been suggested as a household test and is commonly used by analytical chemists for distinguishing fresh butter from renovated butter or oleomargarine. A lump of butter two or three times the size of a pea is placed in a large spoon and it is then heated over an alcohol burner. If more convenient, the spoon may be held above the chimney of an ordinary kerosene lamp, or even over a held over an ordinary illuminating gas burner. If the sample in question be fresh butter it will boil quietly with the evolution of a large number of small bubbles throughout the mass which produce a large amount of foam.

Oleomargarine and process butter, on the other hand, sputter and crackle, making a noise similar to that heard when a green stick is placed in a fire. Another point of distinction is noted if a small portion of the sample is placed in a small bottle and set in a vessel of water sufficiently warm to melt the sample. The sample is kept melted from half an hour to an hour, when it is examined. If renovated butter or oleomargarine, the fat will be turbid, while if genuine, from being the fat will almost certainly be entirely clear.

To manipulate what is known as the Waterhouse or milk test about two ounces of sweet milk is placed in a wide mouthed bottle, which is set in a vessel of boiling water. When the milk is thoroughly heated a teaspoonful of butter is added and the mixture stirred with a splinter of wood until the fat is melted. The bottle is then placed in a dish of ice water and the stirring continued until the fat solidifies. Now, if the sample be butter, either fresh or renovated, it will be solidified in a granular condition and distributed through the milk in small particles. If, on the other hand, the sample consists of oleomargarine it solidifies practically in one piece and may be lifted by the stirrer from the milk.

Many persons believe that the great mass of the fresh meat sold on the market is preserved chemically. This impression is entirely unfounded. The cold storage facilities of the present day make the use of preservatives with fresh meat unnecessary, and the larger packing houses do not employ them. It sometimes happens that local butchers sprinkle preservatives over a cut of meat in order that they may keep it exposed on the block or hanging in a show window as an advertisement. The use of chemical preservatives with fresh meat is confined to this practice alone.

Preservatives are very commonly used with chopped meats and sausages, especially fresh sausage. They are always used in the case of Vienna and Frankfurt sausages enclosed in casings with the ends tied. Where the ends are cut preservatives may be absent. The reason for this is that the temperature required for the complete sterilization of sausages will either burst or distort the skins when the ends are tied, and the casings which cut ends afford an opportunity for the escape of water and steam.

With many varieties of sausages, both fresh and smoked, and with chopped meats of all descriptions, coloring matter is sometimes employed. This is done partly for the purpose of satisfying an unnatural demand for a high colored article and partly sometimes to conceal the grayish color characteristic of old meat, which should not be used at all.

The preservatives employed with most products are loric acid, borax and saltpetre. To detect loric acid about a tablespoonful of the chopped meat is thoroughly mixed with a little water, pressed through a bag and two or three tablespoonfuls of the liquid placed in a saucer placed with fifteen or twenty drops of strong hydrochloric acid (or equal tablespoonful).

The liquid is then filtered through filter paper and a piece of tumeric paper dipped into it and dried near a lamp or stove. If loric acid or borax were used for preserving the sample the tumeric paper should be changed to a bright cherry red color. If no mixed hydrochloric acid has been employed a dirty brownish red color is obtained, which interferes with the color due to the presence of loric acid. Note: If a drop of household ammonia be added to the colored tumeric paper and it turns a dark green, almost black color, then loric acid is present. If the reddish color, however, was caused by the use of too much hydrochloric acid, this green color does not form.

The corrosive nature of hydrochloric acid must not be lost sight of. It must not be allowed to touch the flesh, clothes or any metal.—New York Tribune.

Beautiful Woman at W. S. Lloyd's Attracts Crowd.

The Mi-o-na girl is in town. You will find her, as hundreds have already, in W. S. Lloyd's window.

Mrs. Kern, of Cincinnati, could not give a personal talk in every town in the country about the remarkable cure Mi-o-na made in her case, so a beautiful lithograph reproduction of Mrs. Kern was made and sent to Mi-o-na agents from Maine to California.

This Mi-o-na display is one of the most novel and expensive lithographs ever gotten out, and no one can pass W. S. Lloyd's window without being attracted by it. Mrs. Kern's rosy cheeks and plump form are a striking demonstration of the perfect health that comes to those who use Mi-o-na, a scientific remedy that regulates digestion, strengthens the nerve, gives refreshing sleep, and drives away the "blues."

When you have seen Mrs. Kern in W. S. Lloyd's window, go inside and see the strong guarantee he gives with every 50-cent box of Mi-o-na.

Shot By Negroes.

Prof. J. R. De Moss is teacher of the public school at East Hickman, Ky., and one of the County School Examiners of Fayette County. On Sunday afternoon he was shot by negroes on the Yates Creek pike, a few miles from Lexington. He was shot in right leg and his left arm was shattered at elbow.

He saw a crowd of negroes in the road evidently playing craps. He asked them to let him pass in his buggy. As he drove through, two negroes grabbed his bridle reins and began cursing him. He pulled his pistol and fired. Then the negroes began firing with results as stated. He drove five miles to lane leading to County Infirmary. Here he was found in his buggy and most unconscious from loss of blood.
